Could the rumors be true? Is the Dragon Stone what the Resistance needs to finally have a chance at defeating the empire and end the tyranny across all of Kaeldroga. For now, all the rumors are their only hope, and they will stop at nothing to find out if the rumors are true.

Siblings, Brendan and Kiera are in for the assignment of their lives. As descendants of dragons, magic is in their blood, and such a skill is almost as valuable as gold to their guild of thieves. Without any memory of life before becoming orphans, the two are tasked with stealing the revered Revarium Scepter from the Sorcerer's Guild.

It's time to grab their dragon powder, prepare for dangerous quests, and discover the truth of their heritage before the entire world is destroyed.

Daniel is an Unwanted. Unlike the clone captains, his missions are menial. Until he's in the right place at the right time. No one else is close enough.

All Daniel has ever wanted is to fit in. However, being an Unwanted makes him at the bottom of the food chain. Clones despise the Unwanted, because the clones are the best of the best, genetically--that's why they were chosen to be replicated--cloned. Unwanted weren't even wanted by their parents.

However, Daniel wants to change all that. He's sick of the discrimination of the Space Academy and the Space Explorers. He wants to lead a discovery mission. He wants to search for extraterrestrial life--or at least the possibility of it. Instead, he is in charge of measly mining discovery operations. If Daniel has to search for one more asteroid belt containing precious minerals for the shipyards, he'll go insane. It's time to make a change.

The President calls with a mission that only Daniel can complete. Why? Because he's the only captain near the sector that needs to be explored. Yes, all because he's the closest. Daniel isn't going to let that bother him. He's going to fulfill the newly appointed discovery mission, and he's going to do a better job than any of the clone captains before him. Daniel is going to prove himself.

When Drake discovers what she witnessed, Jade becomes panicked. Drake buys Jade from her master, but what Jade once hoped would be freedom becomes imprisonment as he forces her to flee with him. As they journey, Jade realizes that Drake is indeed not human at all. She witnesses Drake creating real fire from his mouth and transforming into a horrifying beast with wings and sharp teeth. Harder still, she must come to grips with the reality that she may not be human either after discovering she can control all the plants in the forest. During their journey, they are attacked by a barrage of creatures, and Jade wonders what mysterious world she has gotten herself caught up in. Drake confesses to her that there are lots of half-humans across the sea, and it's the only place half-breeds are truly safe. A threat is growing that is killing all of the half-breeds in the shadows, and nobody yet knows why or who it is. All that Jade ever wanted was her freedom, but now with new friends by her side, she must discover how to use her powers to save her friends and discover who her enemies truly are.
